

Discovering Bold Alternatives

The current conditions indicate that the roadmap most of us anticipated to guide us has been reshaped. At this point, it's difficult to determine what it is going to look like. Most agree that the new normal isn't going to look much like what we have known. The economy has shed 6.9 million jobs since the recession began in December 2007. Expectations for job creation are filled with uncertainty.

So, what does that mean to you?

A number of things happen when the rules of the game change. You feel like you have been cheated. You feel like a victim. You feel like... We could continue but we'd rather change direction to set the tone for this experience. When the rules change, opportunities flourish. New economies come into play. New possibilities emerge. The problem is that these new things tend to not look or feel like the old ones. That's not bad. It's just that you need to be open to these new experiences.

Over seven meetings we are going to introduce a number of concepts, tools and activities for you to do to be able to clarify your intentions. We're going to keep it simple so that you can refer back to it. We're going to keep it practical so that it can move you forward.

These meetings will be clustered into three areas: Distinguish, Believe, Act. We will use three meetings for Distinguish. That will take some real hard work to determine what you're good at and what skills and natural talents are there to shed a spotlight on. These sessions are built to deliver a sharp awareness of your talents.

The next two meetings will focus on Believe. If you don't believe you can leverage these talents, you'll never be able to get there. Here we will be assessing your readiness to move forward.

The final two meetings will involve filling in the foundation to Act with a plan to meet your goals. Along the way, we'll add more resources to your tool box and hope that you will network with your group to discover more insights to help you along the way.

This experience is designed with creative exploration based on your own desires. Imagine being in a dark cave confined by fear. It's hard to identify a way out through the darkness. You may feel defeated after countless attempts to navigate out of the restricted space. How different would it be if you were given a light source? What would you be able to do if you were shown a path to the outside? What would happen if you could visualize possibilities beyond these borders? That is the essence of this experience. We pledge to provide you with an inventory of your strengths, a roadmap to explore their potential and a plan to pursue possibilities.

LIVE LIFE JUICY

